

Red Oxygen

Red Oxygen was created to service the corporate need to communicate quickly and simply with an increasingly mobile workforce. Their main goal for this marketing project was to increase organic SEO to their website through content that was both educational and entertaining. They hired Maria Waida for the job. The end result was a well-researched and enjoyable article catered to their target demographic.

Client Testimonial

"The content and writing quality turned out excellent. Maria has a warm personality, communicates well, and couldn't be easier to work with. Highly recommended!"
